Library Tour

"eir rumps on the bones of the dead. He found the library of St Victor most magni"

-Rabelais, Pantagruel, 2:7

check out spine-filed the premier day in the wires of divine caffeine on this shelf somersault oblivion mantle of coagulate games over there shelf lattice-wrangled scuttle in the encephalopathy section bordered on the index the angled plinth of ore over here the lactose section covers torn aflag like a bronze toupee six missing and a lotus choking like a burlap parrot here where the foxed tongues slithe like jointed rasps the dust might settle lariat like a follicle pug there armadas of pencils snap in the sails here are the pits you will drown in joyously agog snapped snack of foetid centuries leak inky haul there over there is where harry potter is.
